Washington Roundup

(International News Service)
A British summary of the Russian fighting made public in Washington today expresses belief the German defense system in the Ukraine is collapsing. Cabled from London to the British embassy, the summary predicts the crumbling of the Nazi defense along the Ukrainian front "will revolutionize the situation."

Along with the British war bulletin comes news that a congressional mission of two Republican House members is enroute to North Africa and England for a first hand study of the war and postwar outlook in the European theater. The congressmen, Reps. John Voris of Ohio and Joseph Baldwin of New York, are expected to arrive in London about a week ago. Baldwin reportedly conferred with President Roosevelt before departing but it is emphasized another congressman is representing the government.

The president, meanwhile, is nearing a decision on whether to veto the soldier vote bill. Mr. Roosevelt has received statements from 42 of the state governors on legality of the supplemental federal ballots and a decision is expected soon.

Mr. Roosevelt made public the governors' reports over the weekend and also spent a good part of his time weighing the army's needs for training men against WPB's demands that essential men continue to be deferred. The war food administration entered the draft picture, declaring four million more workers will be needed to help meet the 1944 food production goals.

OPA is making sure one vital product is going to be produced in large quantity. Price controls were taken off island twist chewing tobacco to assure plentiful production of this commodity which OPA says is actually essential in conduct of the Pacific war through its use in bartering with the natives.

PA NEWC Observes

May be the first day of spring officially, but it looked a lot like the middle of winter to New Castle and Lawrence county folks today. One of the severest snow storms of the year visited this area during the night, following the drop in temperature over the week-end down to real mid-winter temperatures.

Snow shovelling was the pastime of a lot of residents this morning, just as they had begun to dream about spading the garden and getting into the mood for spring clean-up work about the premises.

Change in license tag arrangement this year so that only one tag will be carried on a car, has begun to develop some new problems, especially to parking lot operators in many cities.

In case you have occasion to travel outside the city, Pa. Newc is old that "rough pavement" signs are making their appearance on many of the highways. This is a small occurrence about this period of the year when frost starts going out of the ground.

U. S. Bombers In New Onslaught Against Nazis

Large Force In Daylight Raids On Continental Europe During Day

NIGHT STABS ARE MADE AT GERMANY

(BULLETIN)
LONDON, March 20.—(INS)—Medium-sized forces of Eighth U. S. Army Air Force four-engine bombers attacked targets in southwest Germany today.

They were escorted by strong forces of fighters from both the Eighth and Ninth Air Forces and included Lightnings, Thunderbolts and Mustangs.

By CHARLES A. SMITH
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, March 20.—American bomber formations struck at continental Europe by daylight today in a new onslaught which forced radio stations on the skyways to the Reich to go off the air—including the main enemy outlet in Berlin itself.

Observers on the southeast coast reported the daylight offensive which followed night stabs at Germany by RAF Mosquito bombers, "was going on in great intensity" before noon. Soon after the squadrons disappeared over the channel, the Hilversum radio in occupied Holland lapsed into silence—frequently an indication of aerial assaults on northwestern Germany. A few minutes later the Berlin transmitter halted its programs.

Large Forces Roar Over
A few minutes after the Berlin radio went off the air, the DNB wireless propaganda agency also faded out completely.

Late in the morning observers in the Folkestone area reported that a large force of twin-engine bombers passed overhead returning from the Calais region. Included were squadrons of B-26 Marauders.

Other observers said that B-17 fortresses were among two large formations observed crossing the channel between Folkestone and Boulogne.

During the night, RAF Mosquitoes hit at unspecified objectives in western and central Germany and

Allied Bombers Strike Austria

Yugoslavian Targets Are Also Struck In Allied Attacks On Sunday

NAPLES, March 20.—(INS)—A record number of heavy bombers was thrown into action yesterday during raids of the Mediterranean-based air forces on Klagenfurt, Austria, and Yugoslavian targets. Allied headquarters announced today in a summary of operations of the last 24 hours.

Reconnaissance photographs showed heavy damage to the Klagenfurt airfield and about 15 hits on sprawling war plants at Graz, also in Austria, where railroads were damaged seriously. At least 32 enemy interceptors were destroyed at a cost of 17 American planes, the official announcement stated. Of the 32 Nazi craft shot down, 28 were credited to gunners of the big bombers which attacked the two main Austrian objectives.

RAF Wellingtons, Halifaxes and Liberators bombed the submarine base and Cant Aircraft factory of Monfalcone, on the Adriatic Peninsula. Heavy bombs and incendiaries caused numerous fires and explosions. One fire started in a chemical works was visible for 100 miles. Shipbuilding yards near by were hit and a cargo vessel set on fire.

HITLER'S DIVISIONS IN EAST NEAR ROUT

(By MAJOR PAUL C. RABORG)
(Written Especially for U. S. S.)

NEW YORK, March 20.—The smashing success of the Red Ukrainian army of the south in crossing the Dniester river indicates, by the speed of that operation, that Hitler's Nazi divisions in that area are in demoralized rout.

The question today that is uppermost in most persons' minds is—on what eastern line will, or can the Germans stand and fight? Incidentally, that is about the most difficult question that could be posed. There are many divergent conditions which apply to each particular section of the long German lines from the extreme north—the Arctic, to the south—the Black Sea.

Can Supply Troops
But commencing with Finland and the German divisions in that country are cut off from the balance of the Nazi troops in Russia. Nevertheless, Hitler's navy still apparently controls the Baltic Sea. Therefore, it must be assumed that the Axis units which are in Finland, now said to be about seven divisions, can be supplied.

With the loss of the Ukrainian iron, Germany's main outside source of supply must be the iron and nickel in Finland and Sweden. Therefore, it is logical to assume that the German general staff will decree that Finland be held at all costs. Against that, if Moscow's efforts to get that country out of the war are successful, and the Finnish army turns against the German divisions, the holding of Finland by Hitler's units may be impossible.

The next section to the south might be considered as Estonia.

Lorengau Taken On Manus Island

All Vital Areas On Admiralty Islands Are Now Held By Americans

HUNDREDS OF JAPS KILLED IN BATTLE

By GEORGE LAIT
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

G. N. MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Mar. 20.—Control of all vital areas in the strategic Admiralty Islands was firmly held by American forces today following their capture of the enemy bastion at Lorengau on Manus Island in a battle which cost the Japanese hundreds of dead.

The town, key to the entire area for which the Japanese put up a furious fight, fell to dismounted cavalymen after an 18-hour close-quarter battle which surged first through the outskirts of the village and even through its ruined huts.

Lorengau Occupied
Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced the occupation of Lorengau, from which the near-by air strip now held by the doughboys takes its name in his daily communique, which also told of additional reverses inflicted on the enemy forces in other sectors of this theater.

Hundreds of Japanese dead were abandoned by the fleeing enemy remnants as they scurried into the adjoining jungle hills for refuge, the official statement disclosed. The tank-led doughboys, who fought their way into the village under cover of a protective barrage from destroyers standing off-shore, also seized large quantities of arms and equipment. In their victory, the Americans demolished at least 75 strongly constructed bunkers and broke through an elaborate defense system.

The occupation of Lorengau brought to a completion the campaign.

Spring Greeted By Heavy Fall Of Snow

Snow, Turning To Sleet, Follows Wintery Blasts Here On Sunday

Three inches of snow fell Sunday evening, climaxing a bitter cold day, when a stiff breeze from the east caused 13 degree temperatures to send pedestrians scurrying to keep warm and forced residents to pile on the remains of their coal pile to keep their homes comfortable.

It seemed as though Jack Frost was reluctant to part company with his boon companion, Winter, and the two were staging a wild celebration, as a final fling. Spring arrived this afternoon at 1:43 o'clock, but the day belied it. Sleet, which followed last night's snow, turned back to flakes again, piling it on deeper.

However, in spite of the unseasonable spell, one has the knowledge it cannot last long, unless there is a radical departure from the normal.

Bus Plunges Off Of Bridge Fear 18 Dead

(BULLETIN)
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

PASSIAC, N. J., March 20.—A crowded bus jammed with war workers and early-morning commuters plunged off ice-covered Market street bridge today and fears were expressed that possibly as many as 18 persons may have been carried to their deaths.

Shortly after the crash, Passiac police reported that only seven or eight of the passengers managed to fight their way to the surface. No official estimate was available but it was believed about 24 persons were on the bus.

The bus, which went straight to the bottom of an 18-foot channel, and police sent out emergency calls for divers. It had just completed a run through Passiac and was headed for Wallington across the river.

Skids On Ice Street
Bridgetenders Carl Pilling and John De Vries told police the crowded bus skidded on the icy street, careened across the footwalk and plunged head first into the waters.

An all-night snow and sleet storm had covered Passiac pavements, with a liberal coating of ice.

De Vries sent out an immediate alarm and a dozen ambulances from

Germans Battle Desperately In Cassino Area

Nazis Seek To Retain Toehold In Bomb-Crushed Bastion In Italy

ALLIES ADVANCE SLOW BUT STEADY

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
(International News Service)

NAPLES, March 20.—Veteran Allied infantry and tank forces battered their way steadily into the western outskirts of the bitterly contested Italian city of Cassino today in the face of stern resistance from reinforced Germans.

The Nazis fought back doggedly to retain a toehold in the bomb-crushed bastion and succeeded in reinforcing strong points and regaining one lower hill feature. The hill position retaken is situated on the slopes of Monastery Hill, site of the shattered Benedictine Abbey.

Desperate Resistance

In their desperate attempt to forestall the Allied advance the Germans employed two tanks in the ruins of the Contemplation hotel. These were engaged by Fifth Army tanks which "took care of the situation." Some 100 Germans were taken prisoner in fighting around the hotel, one of numerous Nazi hedgehog positions where the enemy seeks to hold out in last-ditch fighting.

Other German strongpoints included the Duke's palace, on the south side of highway six just south of the town, and an amphitheater north of the road.

Although the progress was slow in the severe fighting at the western outskirts the Allied advance was steady. Continuous mortar and machinegun fire came from enemy positions.

The vital railway station also was under a steady barrage of German mortar and artillery fire but remained firmly in Allied hands.

The struggle on the lower slopes of Monastery Hill likewise was severe and the Germans had the advantage.

Close to a thousand persons gathered at the site of the new North Hill honor roll, located at the intersection of Laurel boulevard and Highland avenue, Sunday afternoon to assist in the dedication of this memorial to the men in service from the first and second wars of the city. They braved a strong east wind which drove 12 degrees temperature through their clothing and chilled them as they stood through the half-hour program.

Remarks by Rabbi Leo E. Turitz of Temple Israel, Rev. Fr. Francis M. McGarrett, pastor of St. Mary's church, and Dick Hitchcock, recently invalidated home from the action in Italy, preceded the address of the afternoon by Judge W. Walter Brant.

NAZIS FLEE INTO RUMANIA

Driven to the Dniester River and retreating in disorder over the old Rumanian border at Mogilev, fleeing Nazi forces are reported taking up new quarters at Cernauti, not far from the Prut River border of Rumania across which the Rumanians and Germans launched the invasion of Russia in 1941. This latest Nazi debacle is the result of a terrific new smash by Marshal Konev's army striking near Vinnitsa, as shown on the map. Hundreds of towns were captured in the heavy attack. A new drive is also reported in the direction of Lwow.

Allied Warplanes Aid Ground Forces In Burma Battles

Japanese Seek To Push Into India In Offensive In Northwest Burma

By JAMES E. BROWN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

NEW DELHI, March 20.—Allied warplanes, striking against Japanese communications over wide sectors of occupied Burma, roared in support of United Nations forces advancing southward along the Arakan peninsula and battling against an enemy drive toward India today.

Both the main Burmese battle areas came under bombardment from the Allied craft, a communique issued by Lord Louis Mountbatten, supreme commander in this theater, disclosed.

Speedy fighters assaulted enemy positions throughout the Arakan-Kaladan-Maya areas, destroying 18 river craft, while dive-bombers attacked Japanese positions in the Buthidaung area nearby. Other formations of heavy craft simultaneously struck at Japanese bases in the Kalewa sector, starting fires which sent columns of smoke 7,000 feet into the air.

Fighter-escorted mediums attacked enemy-used roads between the Wundwin and Linnabou regions, the communique added.

In the land fighting along the Arakan front, the Allies made further progress along the Mayo range after artillery and aerial bombardment drove the enemy from a prominent feature north of the Maungdaw-Buthidaung road.

Russian Forces Driving Deeper Into Rumania

Red Troops Surge Forward After Breaking Through On 31-Mile Front

CROSS DNIESTER IN PURSUIT OF NAZIS

(BULLETIN)
LONDON, March 20.—(INS)—

Evacuation by Nazi forces of the important Ukraine stronghold of Vinnitsa was announced today in a broadcast German communique. Vinnitsa, a rail junction 22 miles northeast of captured Zhmerinka, had been surrounded on three sides by Soviet forces pushing toward the Rumanian frontier.

By NATALIA RENE
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

MOSCOW, March 20.—Powerful Red army columns hammered a deepening wedge into eastern Rumania today, surging steadily forward after breaking through German positions on a 31-mile front and occupying more than 40 Rumanian towns and villages.

The Russian break-through occurred in the vital sector between Yampol, which fell to the Soviets only 48 hours ago, and Mogilev-Podolski, now the scene of a furious street battle between red army spearheads and tenacious Nazi rear guard units.

Smash Over Dniester

The smash over the Dniester into Rumania gave the Russians possession of a 60-mile wide strip of the river east bank and a 30-mile bridgehead on the west shore, thru which they now are pouring men and supplies in a successful effort to fan out and pursue the fleeing Nazis. Blustery Entrance Is Made By Spring

Late Winter Storm Blankets State With Snow And Sleet

Spring made a blustery entrance today, preceded by a late winter storm which blanketed the entire state with snow and sleet.

Western Pennsylvania received the brunt of the spring rain and sleet which started to fall Sunday afternoon and was general throughout the state. The Pittsburgh district reported four and one-half inches of snow.

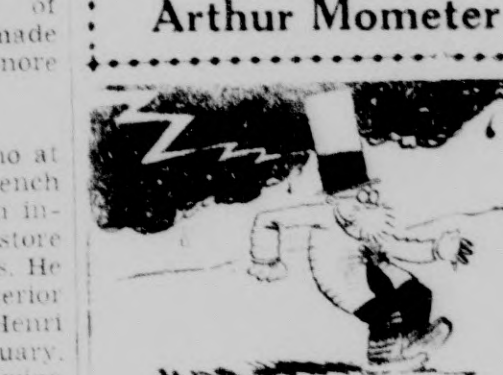

A 20-mile-an-hour wind lashed the eastern portion of the state, causing huge drifts of snow and ice, while Central Pennsylvania was less affected. Philadelphia reported 2.2 inches of snow.

Traffic conditions were reported hazardous throughout Pennsylvania, although state highway crews were busy with trucks and snowplows keeping main arteries open. There were numerous accidents, most of them of a minor nature, including many stalled cars.

All the weathermen could promise for the rest of the day was more snow, rain and sleet, with perhaps later weather tomorrow.

Seven counties in Northeastern Pennsylvania were covered with nearly one-half foot of snow and all state road cleaning equipment and hundreds of men were pressed into service. The average snowfall was five and one-half inches with the roads reported just passable.

Arthur Mometer

So this is spring, well hiya Miss, but you look like a stranger to me, there's snow on the street and frost in the air and the weather is cool, thirty-three. We pictured you something with leaves in your hair and sunshine festooning your brow, but you had us some weather December could claim, and it is the springtime, wow now. Get hep to yourself and the sales talk you gave about springtime and flowers and such, for this looks like winter. I ask you Miss Spring is this what we rate, well not much.

Artillery Duel Over Channel

LONDON, March 20.—(INS)—British and German long-range artillery duelled furiously for more than an hour across the English Channel early today in a heated exchange precipitated by the shelling of enemy shipping by batteries along the south coast of England.

The British batteries opened up at 12:06 a. m. (7:06 p. m. EDT) and fired some 30 rounds in rapid succession at Nazi vessels in the straits of Dover.

Nazi long-range batteries immediately returned the fire from their emplacements in the Cap Gris Nez and Calais areas, turning their attention to town on the southeast English coast. Some of the towns were reported "shaken" by the explosion of shells near-by.

By 1:12 a. m. when both sides halted their firing it was estimated that some 160 rounds had been exchanged, evenly divided between the Nazi and British gunners.

Mount Vesuvius Is Now Erupting

Residents Of Tiny Town On Slopes Of Mountain May Be Evacuated

NAPLES, March 20.—(INS)—Residents of at least one tiny town on the slopes of Mount Vesuvius prepared today to evacuate their homes when streams of molten lava inches toward them from the crater of that erupting volcano, now in the throes of its worst outbreak since 1906.

The lava streams still are issuing from the steaming crater without showing any signs of abatement and plans were made to evacuate residents of Torre Del Greco, a half-mile from the center of the disturbance, tomorrow.

Allied authorities also made plans to evacuate civilians from the village of Boscoreale on the south slope of the mountain if the eruption does not halt soon. Late yesterday that village was visited by AMG officials and Professor Giuseppe Imbo, an expert on volcanic disturbances.

HITLER'S DIVISIONS IN EAST NEAR ROUTE

Latvia, Lithuania, and that portion of Poland which is north of the Pripet marshes. It would seem that the Germans, even if they attempt to hold Estonia, will be unsuccessful.

Only Temporary
The Dvina river which flows into the Baltic at Riga, the capital of Latvia, is of considerable size. From Vitebsk in Russia to Riga it would provide a natural line for the German troops north of it still in Estonia and northern Latvia to fall back to, but defense there could only be holding or temporary. In that case, their natural final holding line would be the old defenses of eastern East Prussia joined to the old north-south line of fortifications that run through mid-Poland slightly to the west of Warsaw. The central Polish line would then be extended south to the Carpathian mountains where they cross through Czechoslovakia.

But here again is an unknown factor. We know Czechoslovakia has entered into an agreement with Stalin. Hitler's soldiers probably cannot hold the Czechoslovakia-Carpathian mountains in the event the Czechs rise up against them.

The Carpathian mountain angle eastward and southward through Rumania to a junction with the Transylvanian Alps. That line of mountains joins with the Balkan mountains and they will definitely be the location for the last stand of the Nazis in southeastern Europe.

But here once more are other unknown factors. Behind that line the Yugoslavians and other guerrillas are already fighting the Nazis. Turkey may open an invasion route into Bulgaria. The Allies might launch a new invasion into southeastern Europe from the Mediterranean.

Any one of those events can completely upset the Nazis last stand as well as their satellite southeastern Europe.

Report German

Troops Occupy

All Of Hungary

(BULLETIN)

LONDON, March 20.—Complete occupation of Hungary by German troops was reported in dispatches from Ankara today.

The messages reported that Hungarian regent admiral Horthy had refused to permit Hungarian troops to form a defense line against the advancing Russians.

The official Hungarian radio station at Budapest was heard broadcasting only German news.

Both Reuter and the Exchange Telegraph agency broadcast word of the Nazi occupation, saying it had been "confirmed from Bucharest."

Admiral Horthy and the Hungarian chief of staff were said to be at Adolf Hitler's headquarters.

According to Reuter, a report from the Bucharest correspondent of the Turkish news agency said that Horthy had visited the headquarters at Hitler's invitation.

FEAR 30 DEAD

Passaic, Wallington and neighboring communities rushed all available rescue equipment to the scene. An excited crowd also gathered near the bridge as reports of the accident spread.

Employees of the U. S. Rubber Company plant, which is situated at the bridge, joined in rescue operations. Several men dove into the freezing waters to help the few survivors who managed to reach the surface. Others threw boxes and ropes from windows.

One woman was seen floundering in the water and a rescuer caught hold of her clothing but lost his grip. She is believed to have drowned.

FLAMING ITALIAN FRONT

SPECULATION as to how long the impasse in Italy might last has been answered by history's greatest concentrated bombing attack and the advance of ground forces against the shattered citadel of Cassino, where strongly entrenched Germans had so long obstructed the road to Rome.

The Italian front, after a stalemate of two and one-half months, has burst into flame with the prelude of what has every appearance of being the beginning of a drive which has as its objective the capture of Rome. In addition to the concentrated bombing of Cassino, followed by artillery and infantry action of unparalleled violence, American forces at Anzio have launched withering attacks against the Nazis.

The violent fighting in Italy is one of the first ominous evidences that spring is in the air, that warm winds are drying the earth and that other conditions are becoming propitious to large scale military operations. Italy is not a major front. The war on the peninsula is being subordinated to the preparations for invasion of Western Europe and to the softening of the continent by air attacks with a view to minimizing losses.

Nevertheless, the scale and intensity of the renewal of the campaign indicate conclusively that from now on it will be pushed with power and determination. The real objective of the Italian campaign has never been revealed by Allied commanders, except to the extent that it possibly contemplates the capture of Rome. It is probable and logical though that the campaign will be pushed far beyond this point, that no effort will be made to drive through the Alps into Germany by way of old Austria.

This would be a costly and a difficult operation which would necessarily call for a diversion of strength from Western Europe, where it is being concentrated to the fullest degree for the invasion. But even the threat of a continuance of the Italian campaign will be attended by important military advantages.

Not the least of these could be the immobilizing of a large German army in Italy where it is urgently needed for the reinforcement of the defending forces in Western Europe. The Italian front, long distinguished by small and indecisive actions, again becomes a center of world interest and at an hour of great anxiety in Germany—when her armies in Russia are showing signs of disintegration, her air forces are being overwhelmed and attack from the west is imminent.

STUDYING DEWEY

Newspapermen men who study national politics and bring to its analysis considerable power of penetration are perplexed by Tom Dewey's position in the presidential race.

All of them recognize that Dewey holds an advantageous place in the situation—governor of a pivotal state and with a widely scattered following throughout the country among the rank and file as well as G.O.P. leaders. In fact, straw votes show in the lead as the choice of the Republican voters for the nomination. Under ordinary circumstances Dewey would be classified by newspaper prognosticators as well in the front of probable contestants.

But then comes the rub. Dewey does not disclose any of the indications through which ordinarily an aspirant admits his ambition. He has said repeatedly that he was not a candidate for the nomination and that he is concerned solely with the job of governor of New York. But this statement has been interpreted generally as meaning that he would accept a nomination but will not campaign for it. And Dewey is sticking to his guns. He is not pressing his candidacy in the primaries.

There isn't a newspaper prophet who doesn't believe Dewey will be in the race, but today none can be sure.

FIGHTING GAS WITH GAS

It would be amazing if the unpredictable Nazi enemy desperately resorted to poison gas warfare to cope with invasion. But the war departments at Washington and London have that horrible possibility under consideration.

They are skeptical that the Germans will try again the weapon they used in World War I, as they are confident that the Allies are equipped to beat the enemy at his own game. President Roosevelt, stirred by repeated reports that the Japanese had been employing a variety of poison gas against the Chinese, has warned the Axis that if they further use it the Allies are prepared to do the same.

One indication of how extensive is this preparation is disclosed in a report on a new 42 inch mortar. The mortar presently is used for white phosphorus shells and high explosives.

As to possibilities of the mortar for firing gas shells, Brig. Gen. Aiden H. Watt writes: "A chemical company firing at the maximum rate can place nearly two tons of a non-persistent chemical agent such as phosgene on the target in two minutes. This is enough gas to put completely out of action every unprotected man in an area of a quarter of a million square yards."

Profoundly shocking as the prospect of gas warfare is to the Allies, its introduction would be far more disastrous to the Axis. The devastating bombing of Germany—a bombardment which the Nazis are at a loss to understand—has stressed the aerial striking power of total war.

With any or all German cities offering a target for incendiary and explosive bombs, the fate in store for them if bombed with gas—if the Allies should be forced to such reprisal—would swiftly conclude Germany's chance of survival. Such a climax would leave the wall of the fortress of Europe a monument of futility, dwarfing the Maginot Line.

The issue of poison gas warfare is contingent on this consideration: Just how mad are Hitler and his fellow war lords—with their dream of world conquest now changed into a nightmare of irresistible encirclement?

Geologists now say this nation will not run out of oil for a thousand years. Not if the OPA can prevent it, at any rate.

Last year U. S. mints turned out more than 2,000,000,000 coins, more than one-tenth the total coinage since the first mint was established more than 150 years ago. Novelty was injected into the output by introduction of a penny that looks like a dime.

Washington Calling

By MARQUIS CHILDS

Espionage In Ireland

WASHINGTON, March 20.—When I travelled across Ireland last spring, on the way from Foyles to London, the countryside was as green as the shamrock. The stone fences, the soft rain, the gray city of Limerick, the small armistice of a peace in the hotel sitting room, all of this was the Ireland of romantic tradition.

It was the Ireland of Yeats, Lady Gregory and A. E., the great poets and singers, many of whom were statesmen too. It is true we've romanticized Ireland, and it's not to be wondered at. There never was a people of such charm and such poetry.

But now the harsh fact of the war has caught up with the legend. It is a matter of life and death and the success of an effort on which we are staking the outcome of the war.

Will Not Halt Espionage

The isolation of Ireland by Britain's action in stopping all travel is not the end. Both military and diplomatic experts are convinced it will not put a stop to the espionage. They believe the danger will be removed only when the German and Japanese representatives directing the spy work are sent out of Ireland.

While travel between Great Britain and Ireland is all but eliminated, it is not possible to close the border between Northern Ireland and independent Eire. Too many people must necessarily pass back and forth in the course of their daily work. This leaves the door partly open.

Prime Minister De Valera's note on the presence of German and Japanese diplomats at the world spies was full of earnest conviction. But there were many weaknesses in it.

For example, he said the total number of persons suspected of engaging in espionage and now held in Irish prisons is 12. Of this number, 10 are foreigners and two are citizens of Eire. Included are the five Nazi parachutists who were captured after being dropped in Ireland with complete radio sending equipment.

Many Probably Active

De Valera's government has undoubtedly tried hard to root out the intelligence system established by the Axis in Ireland. But it is becoming clear that after four years and a half of war, the extraordinarily effective German espionage system should not have sent more skilled operatives into a listening post on Britain's doorstep.

The prime minister's statement does not include members of the Irish Republican Army who have been jailed during the war. Active members of the I.R.A. are fanatical foes of Britain and in a sense, enemies of De Valera's government because that government has of necessity cooperated with England in order to survive.

According to information from the Irish legation here, about 400 I.R.A. members have been arrested under security laws and put behind bars. Here again, however, considering the bitterness of the past and the size of the population—about 3,000,000—the number is extraordinarily small.

Same Thing In U. S.

The government of Eire makes much of the fact that a secret radio sending set was seized in the German legation. Although it is little known, the same thing happened in Washington just before Pearl Harbor with the seizure in the German Embassy of a powerful set that had been used to send secret messages to Berlin.

Our security officers did not deceive themselves that this meant automatically the end of espionage reports to German headquarters. They knew it would make it harder for the Germans who would have set up a new secret channel of communication. Only with Pearl Harbor, when all Axis agents were swept out of the country, was it possible to feel relatively secure.

The Irish have suggested a parallel with Turkey and Sweden. Technically it exists—they are both neutrals having Axis representatives in their capitals. But it is geography that counts here. Neither Sweden nor Turkey happens to be next door to the invasion.

The smaller countries of Europe are fearful for their sovereignty. They are suspicious of talk of the Axis to dominate the postwar world. Finland has not stubbornly refused to consider the Russian peace terms.

Yet they must come part way in cooperation. And that goes for Ireland in this moment when so much is about to be risked.

Another way by which the bus company could relieve the crowded condition would be to leave the back door open so incoming passengers could push other patrons out.

As a general thing, the average man does not love his enemies, but he's always reasonably fond of his worst one—himself.

Very often a man is best known by the company he keeps out of.

People will not have to be urged much to make Victory gardens this year. A lot of people have learned what they are.

It requires more than touching up the hair a little to retain a man's love.

We need a lot of things these days that we did not have any use for in days gone by.

It is no longer proper for a man to say he has a date with a skirt. She may be wearing pants.

The proposed amendment would limit income and estate taxes to 25 per cent. The idea is to protect great fortunes and let little people carry the tax load.

Japanese and Italian people deserve no sympathy. They thought murder and theft great fun while they were winning.

We must learn as Henry Ford did, that we can't uplift people by requiring them to live our way against their will.

Freedom, in practice, includes the right to punish a union worker who produces too many weapons. Is that what our boys are dying for?

Eugenic note: Discharging thousands who are congenitally inferior mentally, turning them loose to father a new generation.

Americanism: Pleading for more soldiers; 900,000 non-fathers between 18 and 25 holding industrial jobs—and a lot more in government service.

Why worry if you didn't go to college? Educators say their chief value is in teaching people to think, and you can learn that anywhere.

The man who cannot deliver the goods had better hunt for some business where goods are not delivered.

Experience teaches us that if we want a thing cheap, we must pay dearly for it.

If a man says, "I am saving money now," that's jawbone—if he says, "I'm trying to save money now," that's wishbone—but, if he really does save money now, that's backbone.

BACKWOODS' REASONING
A farmer was visiting his son's classroom at college. He was quite intrigued by the retorts and other paraphernalia in the chemistry class and asked what they were doing. The professor replied, "Our research project now is trying to discover a universal solvent."

"Why that's a fluid that will dissolve anything," condescendingly replied one of the students.

The farmer was quiet for a few minutes before he said, "That's a great idea. When you find it, what are you going to keep it in?"

The Soldier Will Vote

WASHINGTON, March 20. THE BUNCOMBE by which the fourth-termers endeavored to maneuver themselves into the politically advantageous position of sole champions of the right of the men in the armed services to vote, thus casting all others for the sinister role of conspirators who sought to deprive them of this right—for the moment, anyway—has obscured the basic facts of the situation.

AFTER THE controversy concerning the method of voting is finally over, these facts will emerge again and demagogic phrases, such as "ballots as well as bullets for our boys at the front," will be recognized as the cheap political demagoguery they really are. For the outstanding fact is that, whether or not the President vetoes the soldier-vote bill sent to him by Congress, every soldier, sailor and marine entitled to vote, and who wants to vote, will be able to vote this time. He will be able to vote under the laws of his own State.

MOREOVER, HE will be able to vote with considerably less trouble than the civilian at home, as he will have neither to register nor go to the polls. Without trouble, he can do the whole thing by mail, with the army and navy cooperating, as they must, in transporting the ballot. In addition he will be able to vote for State and local officials as well as for Federal. He, regardless of Mr. Roosevelt's action on this bill (and by the time this is printed he may have acted on it), will be able to vote for the purely Federal ballot to which he was committed and to deplore the States' rights bill enacted by Congress.

BUT, that will not alter the fact that with or without the bill he now has, long before the election and in ample time for the soldier to make his request, get his ballot, vote and return it to his State. The State Legislatures will have acted to make this possible, easy and constitutional. Most of them have done so already. The rest are expected to do so before July. The idea that the ballots or the procedure will be too complicated for the soldier does not hold water. It will be executed by the State, not by the civilians and the procedure will be simpler because registration will be waived. If in fact, anything more, without disregarding the basic law of the land, can be done to facilitate voting for the servicemen, at home and abroad, who want to vote, it is difficult to think what it is.

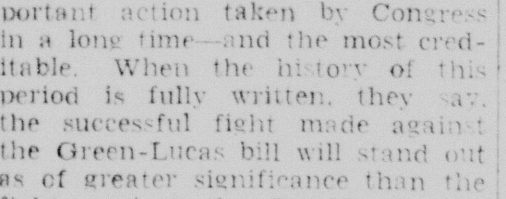

OF COURSE it would be easier if the original Administration bill, introduced by the two New Deal fourth-term wheel horses, Senators Lucas and Green, had been enacted. Under that bill the States were wholly ignored. The Constitution discarded a small ballot provided upon which only the names of Federal candidates appeared. The whole business was put under a War Ballot Commission to be named by the President. This made it possible for the election to be conducted by the Army under its own rules. The soldier could have been voted by the States, regardless of their age or other voting qualifications. And the War Ballot Commission had the power to throw out the entire vote of a State if it refused to count soldier ballots cast in conflict with State laws.

THAT THERE was a strong probability that the result of an election under this bill would have been contested was evident. It would, it was contended, have been taken at once into the courts and the title of the man chosen for President would have been clouded for months. There also was a possibility that the election might have been thrown into the House of Representatives and a general chaotic condition created. The opposition came from two quarters—first, those who saw in the bill a political scheme to vote the soldiers en bloc for the Commander in Chief; second, from those who felt that if the Federal Government could swing the votes of the States in this instance and in this way they could never be recovered and there would be no limit to the domination of the Federal authorities.

SOME OF the most thoughtful Democrats in the Senate feared the defeat of the bill by the most important action taken by Congress in a long time—and the most creditable. When the history of this period is fully written, they say, the successful fight made against the Green-Lucas bill will stand out as of greater significance than the fight against the President's Supreme Court packing bill. Had it become law the rights of the States to conduct elections under their own laws would have been knocked out and Federal control really established.

AS THINGS have turned out the efforts of the Administration to make it appear that the opposition was solely due to fear that the soldiers would all vote for Mr. Roosevelt, and that rather than risk that his opponents were willing altogether to deprive the soldiers of their vote, just can't be made to stick. Unquestionably, there was politics as well as principle in the opposition, but the clear political purpose in the original bill made that unavoidable. However, it never reached the point where there was the remotest thought of depriving the soldiers of their vote. The truth is everybody wanted the soldiers to vote. It was the Administration's determination to have him vote the way he wanted that created the controversy.

Roosevelt And Churchill Are Less Cordial
Two Recent Events Considered Significant
No Successor To McNary Will Be Named Now

By HELEN ESSARY
(Central Press Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, D. C. March 20.—Observers in Washington are beginning to see in recent events a cooling of the extremely cordial relations between President Roosevelt and British Prime Minister Winston Churchill.

In recent weeks, rumors have circulated among diplomatic missions in the nation's capital that part of the reported "falling out" can be attributed to differences over methods of solving Russia's territorial claims in Europe.

But two events of recent days have pointed up more than ever indications that the president and prime minister are pursuing divergent paths on some questions involving international politics and prosecution of the war. Churchill, in a statement to the House of Commons, strongly re-fused by inference the announcement by President Roosevelt that Russia would shortly receive a third of the Italian fleet or its equivalent. Churchill held, instead, that division of the fleet possibly should await the end of the war, both in Europe and in the Pacific.

Palestine One Point

On the same day, President Roosevelt took occasion to announce again indirectly that the United States has never approved the British decision to close Palestine to further Jewish immigration after March 31, 1944.

The president authorized two Jewish leaders to make his statement public and both indicated that the chief executive probably would make strong presentation to the British to keep Palestine open when the proper time comes.

Senate Republicans, confident of a November victory, plan to elect no permanent minority leader to succeed the late Charles McNary of Oregon, who died a fortnight ago in Paris.

When they choose a new GOP leader for the upper chamber, they are confident he will be a majority leader—marking the first time since 1931 the Republicans have had a clear-cut majority in the senate.

Future Looks Rosy

Furthermore, the Republicans are certain to get a majority, which they regard as inescapable in the senate will work hand-in-glove with a new Republican president, who they expect, will have reached the White House by defeating President Roosevelt for a fourth term.

Until November, dimmutive, gray-haired Senator Wallace White of Maine will continue to function as (Continued On Page Seven)

THE NURSE

She follows the soldier where danger is dire. She crawls as he crawls under barriers of wire.

She sails where he sails and she flies where he flies. And sometimes in battle beside him she dies.

Oh, there is no glory of skill or of purse. And no service more honored than that of the nurse!

She slogs through the mud and the sun and the rain. Her ear is attuned to the whimper of pain.

If brave is the soldier of land, sky and sea. Then as brave and as steadfast to duty is she.

The lips of the wounded her glory rehearse. The woman whose life-work is mercy—the nurse!

She serves 'neath the decks of great warships at sea. Wherever man ventures behind him she'll be.

She's known in the jungle, the fox-hole, the beach. There's no part of duty her hand cannot reach.

Without her devotion war's horrors were worse. So here's to that angel of mercy—the nurse!

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

WHEN CHILD DAWDLES

I wonder how many thousand mothers in America wear themselves out on school mornings getting one child off to school on time. To get five or six of them off may not be nearly so trying. Some mothers have told me or written me they actually must lie down for an hour after sending their one child off. What about your school and his lessons that day? Both child and parent suffer and their relationships to each other are impaired. What is more, the child continues to be dependent on the mother.

This school-morning dawdler didn't get that way all at once. Almost surely the problem has been developing since the child was very young. It is dramatic evidence that the child has not learned much self-reliance. Mother of a baby: Resolve now that such serious problems won't arise with your child. Let him learn early to wash himself, dress himself, feed himself. (Continued On Page Seven)

Searching parties were organized, and finally the animal was captured.

Newcomers Invited To Garden Classes
First Of Monday Night Classes Taught By L. C. Dayton At Y.W.C.A. Tonight

To seek out newcomers, New Castle churches recently made a survey of the city to which the Y. W. C. A. has been given access in order to assist in helping new residents feel at home in a community organization for all churches. As a result, newcomers to New Castle will be extended a special welcome to-night at the Y. W. C. A. Victory Garden class taught by Lewis C. Dayton, agricultural extension agent.

Getting ready for a Victory Garden is a friendly and patriotic activity which seems to open up latent powers in every individual who attempts it, from 'old dirt gardeners' down to the newest recruit.

More than one billion yards of cotton textiles are used each year in the making of bags.

Lt. 'Bill' Kelly Back In States

Lt. William W. "Bill" Kelly, son of Mr. and Mrs. Newell A. Kelly, of Shaw street, who had the distinction of being the first pilot to land on Tarawa after the marines had captured that spot after a terrific battle with the Japs, has arrived back in the states.

Contest Leaders For Fifth Sunday

Report Of Attendance In Pre-Easter Campaign Presented For Yesterday

Few changes were registered the fifth Sunday of the "Victory" Pre-Easter campaign being sponsored by the Lawrence County Sabbath School Association, all of the leaders maintaining their places and few changes in the standings were made. Three or four Sunday schools, however, had their best attendances of the campaign despite the fact that the weather yesterday was not as favorable as it had been on the previous Sunday.

The New Castle leaders still are as follows: first group, First Presbyterian, with the Third U. P., in second place; second group, Central Presbyterian with First Christian not far behind; third group, Mahoning Methodist in the lead with a wide margin, and in the fourth group, the St. John's Lutheran has the highest percentage.

The Second U. P. continue in the lead in the church attendance figures, and they seem to have this position pretty well sewed up as they are six points ahead of the next Sunday school in line, the Wesley Methodists.

The Mt. Jackson district had another Sunday school send in its campaign figures, the Mt. Jackson U. P., and they have 17 points to the good.

There are only three more Sundays until Easter, and in all probability these three Sundays will be the best climaxing with a record-breaking Easter attendance.

Reports of the Sunday schools outside of New Castle, will be given later in the week.

THE WORLD AND THE MUD PUDDLES

rain and heat and gloom of night—as much as twenty miles a day that also includes fighting. He can't remember when he slept in a bed. There are weeks when he hasn't had a bath, or even taken his clothes off. There are days on end when he has lived on canned rations.

In Italy, G. I. Joe has slowly, doggedly blasted the Germans out of seemingly impregnable positions that bomb or shell couldn't reach. He has kept fighting through blinding, freezing mountain snowstorms. He has packed supplies on his back up steep mountain trails where even a mule couldn't travel.

In the Pacific, he has battled heat, rain and jungle, disease and insects and every treacherous trick of barbarous warfare that the Jap could muster.

Wherever he fights, G. I. Joe must sometimes take his rifle and bayonet and go across a patch of bullet-swept ground to drive the enemy out. He may be pushed back, but he has to go on again. That's the only way that wars are won.

G. I. Joe can't function without air support and artillery and the vast, intricate system of supply. But they can't function without him either. No job in the Army demands more endurance and quick-thinking adaptability and plain guts than Joe's does.

So the next time we at home carp about the slowness of the drive toward Rome, or a drawout campaign in the Pacific, let's remember the task that G. I. Joe has had cut out for him. He's the man who some day will march into the remains of Berlin and Tokyo. But he is going to have to fight like the devil all the way there.

Health Talks

By DR. W. A. WOMER
City Health Superintendent

TEETHING

Baby has a tooth. Talk about war news! The first tooth is a big event for mother and dad.

Teething is a normal process. It should not cause any trouble. Usually the teeth appear without causing any discomfort.

When baby is cutting his teeth, he likes to chew on something. He is not very particular what!

It is perhaps a good idea to give him something hard to chew on. It should be clean. It should be too large to swallow or get in his throat.

When he gets teething, it is probably a good plan to give him some solid food to eat.

When baby is teething, everything that gets wrong with him is blamed on his teeth. The teeth are rarely to blame.

He gets hungry and cold and sick and mad just the same as grand dad.

Before the war it was estimated that the annual consumption of candy in the United States for each person was about 14 pounds.

THE PARENT PROBLEM

and acquire habits of self-care by the time he enters school. Then he will get himself ready and off to school on time, and escape the usual orgy of morning scenes and go to school happy and hopeful.

But the thousands of mothers who have this school-morning problem don't need a gooding for the mistakes they have already made. They need to be shown what they can do now to solve this problem which is not a hopeless one. It won't be easy for them or the child, yet it will be far easier than most parents suppose if they are able to follow a program faithfully. In my bulletin, "Parents Can Help Child Succeed at School," I offer such a program. This program worked with one of our children.

Suppose it is a nightmare to get your son of nine off to school each morning. Under these conditions he can hardly do his best at school. Should he dawdle over dressing and eating you may need to work on these problems first, though they should have been settled years earlier. Let Dad check with the boy the night before to see that his clothes, books and the like are assembled. Call him fifteen minutes earlier than has been your custom. Announce to him the evening before that you won't say "hurry," that he can collect from you a fine of a cent or nickel every time he hears you say "hurry." Having ascertained when he must leave home in order to arrive at school on time, tell him he will not be allowed to go to school in case he has not made himself ready by that time.

Let the school know beforehand of your plans. If he must remain home, assign him to sit in a chair where he can be seen, doing nothing—no books or fannies, or radio—for the entire day or half-day, as seems best, with a 10-minute recess at the end of each fifty minutes. Refuse to argue with him or to discuss the issue at all. Should he attempt, however, to engage you in other conversation, respond as if nothing irregular had occurred.

Continue in this fashion daily until the problem is solved. One day's treatment probably will suffice. Isn't this far more humane than the usual procedure? Consider, too, the results.

Solving Parent Problems

Q. If for economic reasons, it is a choice between a new coat or permanent for the mother or sixteen year old daughter, who should have first place?

A. The mother; the daughter usually has.

WASHINGTON REPORT

acting minority leader, a post he assumed months ago when McNary's final illness drove him to Florida in a futile effort to recuperate.

It may be out of deference to the mild-mannered White, the GOP conference of the senate may designate him minority leader in title—but the title will mean little, and he will be carrying on for the day when he will be succeeded by a majority leader of more driving stature.

When that time comes White will give way with the thanks of the Republican membership. Then the actual leadership will boil down to a contest between four of the most potent Republican "big guns" in the senate.

These will be Senators Taft of Ohio, Vandenberg of Michigan, Bridges of New Hampshire and Burton of Ohio.

Vandenberg, by seniority, and Taft, by legislative sagacity, have at present the inside track.

Bridges is a "Young Turk"—an adept parliamentarian, an able debater and extremely aggressive. But he is steadily gaining power, although he has not the chance of the other three.

Real "dark horse" in the final Republican showdown for senate power is Senator Wherry of Nebraska.

Wherry now is GOP whip—young, smart and western.

Carbon Monoxide Blamed In Death Of Four Persons

PITTSBURGH, March 20.—(INS)—Carbon monoxide poisoning was blamed today for the deaths of two men and their wives in the Pittsburgh district.

In nearby Wilkensburg, Woodrow V. Hoover and Mrs. Helen Hoover, both 31, failed to respond to artificial respiration after they were found unconscious in their home. A Coatesville (Pa.) sailor, Seaman Robert McBride, 35, and his wife Dora, 36, were found dead in a rented upstairs room after they had apparently inhaled gas fumes. They had met in Pittsburgh March 12 after a separation of several months.

Treasury Increase In Pay Is Delayed

Council Members Await Legal Opinion As To Retroactive Plan

When council met Monday in City hall Finance Director Albert A. Hoyland reported that, at a joint session of council and school board representatives it had been decided to give city and school treasury workers a raise, practically all other city employees having received one sometime ago. However, the retroactive date could not be decided upon because of a difference in opinion and the legal bureau has been asked to provide an opinion.

The increases would result as follows: first and second deputies, $202.00 and $131.30, respectively, regular clerks, $4.60, daily and extra clerks, 55 cents, an hour.

Mayor John F. Haven expressed the opinion that the raise should be retroactive to January 1, the date when other city employees' raise took effect.

Safety Director D. O. Davies stated that to do this, this would set a precedent because at no time has a raise been made retroactive beyond a current date of a present pay and added the retroactive date should be March 15. He also said that he held this view because of legal interpretations made in the past.

Solicitor R. M. White said informally that he believed that it was legal to make the increase date back to March 15, it could date back to January 1.

Streets Director James Gibson asserted the legal department should provide an opinion as to how far back the raise could become effective.

The Berlin radio was quoted by BBC as admitting that the Soviets now hold a portion of Vinnitsa. Warns Corn Borer Must Be Battled In Pennsylvania

HARRISBURG, March 20.—(INS)—Secretary of Agriculture Miles Horst warned Pennsylvania's corn growers today that unless an organized campaign was launched immediately to eradicate the European corn borer in plant rubbish before April 15 "they can expect worse destruction and perhaps no sweet corn crop whatever in 1944."

He pointed out that last year's damage by the pest was the worst in the state's agricultural history. County victory garden chairmen were urged to fix a day for eradication of the corn borer prior to April 15.

"It will not help much if only one victory gardener here and there cleans up," Horst said, "an effective job can be done only if each and every infested garden is thoroughly cleaned and all plant rubbish completely buried. It must be a guided effort to cover the entire county."

He explained that corn borers attacked potatoes and some heavy-stemmed weeds and flowers last year and that the pest was still alive in the stalks and stubble.

Greyhound Bus Strike May Spread

PITTSBURGH, March 20.—(INS)—The Greyhound bus strike of 400 that originated last week in Pittsburgh threatened today to spread among 3,500 employees of the company's Pennsylvania system, paralyzing all Greyhound operations east of the Mississippi river.

The new menace was revealed by the announcement that presidents of 14 union divisions were scheduled to go into joint session today in Pittsburgh.

Harold Blum, secretary of the Pennsylvania joint council of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway and Coach Employees said the meeting was a strong indication that the strike might spread to all Pennsylvania Greyhound operations east of the Mississippi.

Musical Instruments Are Being Collected For Soldiers At Front

G. I. Joe is not only going to continue blasting Japs and Nazis at an ever-increasing rate, but he is going to do it to music—thanks to a national-wide campaign to collect musical instruments for the boys across the seas. This campaign, now going into its final week, is being sponsored in New Castle by Lawrence Bottling & Mfg. Co. at the request of the War Department.

Small instruments such as harmonicas, ocarinas, accordions, guitars, banjos, etc., are particularly needed. Those wishing to donate are asked to take them to any "Coca-Cola" dealer. "Coca-Cola" trucks will pick them up and forward them to the army, which will send them overseas at once.

In New Castle there are hundreds of musical instruments that would delight the hearts of homesick soldiers. Everyone is urged to dig down in basements, attics and storage rooms for those musical instruments that aren't being used and take them to the nearest "Coca-Cola" dealer.

"There are few if any comforts around a foxhole. The least we can do is give our boys a little music," according to Mr. A. A. Streib, manager of the Lawrence Bottling & Mfg. Co., who is in charge of the local campaign.

DIVORCE DECISIONS

In one of the longest divorce opinions handed down in years, Judge W. Walter Braham refused the application of John W. Carpenter, of Ellwood City, for a divorce from Lydia Carpenter. The libellant asked for a divorce upon the grounds of indignities to person. In his seventeen page decision Judge Braham points out that the libellant, Mr. Carpenter, had a predilection for other women and that the testimony seemed to show that Mrs. Carpenter was sometimes angry and did things not conducive to harmony in the family there appeared to be reason to believe that she had always thought of her husband's best interest. The divorce application is refused.

Offering a day of prayer for peace and for victory, approximately 400 Catholics from all Catholic parishes of Lawrence County gathered at St. Joseph's church for a day of recollection, on Sunday afternoon, sponsored by the Lawrence County Union of Sodality.

Galati, of St. Lawrence church, Hillsville, sub-deacon; and Rev. Fr. John M. Unger, of St. Joseph's, master of ceremonies.

Y Boys Teams Plan Campaign

Preparations For Annual Membership Drive Made At Rally On Sunday

Boys from the Y. M. C. A. who will compose the four membership teams who will take part in the annual membership campaign starting next week, met in the Y. M. C. A. Saturday at noon for an opening rally. They will be under the leadership of Harold Pears, who has shown outstanding leadership in past campaigns, and who will be their coach.

Boys' Secretary D. Baptist called the teams to order after a regular Y. M. C. A. boys' team dinner and presented General Secretary R. L. McManis. Mr. McManis called attention to the fact that almost 600 young men who were formerly members of the Y. M. C. A. are now in the armed forces of their country. This means that the number able to participate in the association activities is limited to the boys teams who have to do extra duty in the membership drive this year.

Harold Pears, coach, and the four captains of the boys' teams, Tim Hares, Arnold Lewis, Jim Hamilton and Jim Pears, were then introduced. William Winter, physical director, was presented and spoke of the fine work which the boys have done in past campaigns.

The boys then got down to the business of planning the campaign and selecting the names of prospects on whom they will call.

The military hand salute was adopted by the U. S. Marine Corps in 1805.

Anonymous Letters Go Into Scrap-Basket

"Whenever you receive an unsigned communication drop it into the waste-paper basket. I will not pay attention to unsigned letters," was the instruction Mayor John F. Haven today issued to his secretary at city hall. He said he has received some anonymous letters but inasmuch as the senders did not sign their names and addresses he stated they had not received consideration. Letters properly signed will receive consideration, he stated.

At our regular meeting, Tuesday noon, we will have one of our own members as the speaker, Lion Robert M. Phillips, Chief Metallurgist of the local plant of the Aluminum Company of America, who will give an informative talk on aluminum. In discussing his subject, slides will be used to show the manufacturing processes and uses of aluminum.

HEALTH DANGER LINE

Experts have warned that public health would be in danger if the proportion of doctors in the U. S. fell below one to every 1500 civilians. But now, with over one-third of all our doctors in the armed forces, that danger line has been crossed by 28 of the 48 states.

Unnecessary travel during 1943 averaged 20 per cent on railroads and 33 per cent on buses, according to Office of Defense Transportation figures.

Pottery Cagers Deadlock Indus Series, Win, 28-27

Pitzer, Santangelo Star Before Capacity Crowd

Game In Doubt Until Final Whistle; Bronze Fights Uphill Battle After Getting Off To Bad Start; Pitzer Scores 16 Points, Santangelo 12; Series Finale Wednesday.

Local basketball fans are anticipating a battle resembling a Hatfield-McCoy brawl Wednesday night at 8:30 o'clock, when Shenango Pottery and Johnson Bronze clash for the 1943-44 championship of the Industrial league.

Shenango Pottery put the three-game series on an even keel Saturday night on Ben Franklin floor by snatching an eyelash decision, 28-27, before another overflow gallery.

After a somewhat dull first period in which the Pottery nabbed a 6-0 lead, the battle tempo increased with the rivals playing clean but hard basketball. The decision was in doubt until the final whistle. "Hen" Koszela's midcourt shot in the last five seconds brought the gallery to its feet. Every pair of eyes followed the flight of the spheroid. The final fling was arched perfectly but was a bit to the left. The Pottery won the rebound and the clash ended.

Santangelo Standout
With Guido Santangelo unfurling one of the best displays of marksmanship seen on the junior high court in years, the Pottery marched ahead, 16-10. At one time, the Pottery, who copied the initial fray by a 26-28 margin, trailed 16-7. Kelley's shot under and foul whittled the lead to six points, three seconds before the intermission stanza.

During the first 16 minutes, Santangelo fired eight times, hitting the mesh on five occasions. His one-handed pegging was by far the feature of the first two periods. His defensive maneuvers stood out, too.

As the tussle resumed, the JB quit their zone and shifted to close checking. The change immediately started to pay dividends. Koszela marked up a device from midcourt and Pitzer registered an eye-opening one-hander to erase the Pottery's margin to 16-14.

Pitzer Ties Score
Hughes tallied from the foul circle for the Pottery but Pitzer, continuing his Hollywood-like one-man show, scored on a tip-in and followed a few seconds later by stealing the ball, smartly dribbling down the floor and scoring on a perfect set shot. The count was stymied, 18-18, at this juncture.

With three seconds left, Pitzer got his hands on the ball and lashed a right hand hook heave which poured through the cords, boosting the Bronze up front for the first time. Latine's charity toss cut the JB lead to 20-19 as the period ended.

On a fast cut play, Latine tallied after 2:10 of the fourth. Davis' device from outside the free throw precinct, upped the Pottery advantage to 23-20. After Koszela muffed a pair of fouls, Santangelo dumped an overhead shot for the Shenango with four left.

Koszela at this time pulled the most sensational shot, scoring from three-fourths out and Pitzer clicked on one out of two Annie Oakleys. JB trailed 25-23. Vargo's foul wide-ended the gap with only two and one-half remaining.

After Center Davis deuced from under with one and a half left, the five-point margin seemed as big as an elephant. But the JB refused a foul try, taking the ball out of bounds. The decision was the right one as Koszela tossed to Pitzer who scored. At the 50 seconds left mark, Pitzer again electrified the frenzied crowd by dropping a left-handed hook shot. He was fouled too, but failed to add the game-winning point.

The Pottery was awarded a foul but instead took the ball out of bounds. Koszela snared the spheroid and, with all eyes watching him, cut loose with his final fling, a shot that nearly ended the series.

Pitzer Terrific
Santangelo's first half play for the Pottery took the play away from the field. He deposited six fielders for the night. Davis and Hughes shared honors, dividing 10 points and performing remarkably defensively.

Francis Pitzer's last half performance resembled something you read in a story book. Held down to three points in the opening half, the ex-Shenango Township high star was ubiquitous in the closing 16 minutes, taking a hand in practically every play. He pocketed 16 points, Koszela divided honors with Pitzer, Kelly played well around the rims. JB tried 65 shots, connecting 11 times. The Pottery made 13 out of 50.

TALE OF THREE GRID STARS: They're All Heroes

LIEUT. IKE KEPFORD, former Northwestern U. backfield star, now a flyer in the Solomons, already has accounted for 16 Jap planes, twice getting four enemy planes in single actions. Kepford, 24, of Muskegon, Mich., was a Wildcat star in 1940-41. (International)

LIEUT. PETE HOLOVAK, former Fordham university backfield star, was one of the casualties on Tarawa. Holovak, who has three brothers in the service, was killed in a plane crash on the Gilbert island. Feb. 3, Holovak starred for the Fordham Rams in years 1938 and 1939. (International)

CAPT. JOHN J. PADLEY, formerly an All-Ohio back at Dayton university, got himself two Japs with a bayonet during the Roi island invasion of the Marshalls. Padley, a Marine, jumped into a shell crater and when two "dead" Japs moved he bayoneted both of them. (International)

Indus Stars Rally, Nudge Eps, 38-37

Industrial Performers Tally 17 Points In Fourth Stanza; Battle Thrilling

Behind by 15 points at halftime and victory seemingly out of reach, the Industrial League All-Stars engineered a hair-raising fourth period rally to brush past the strong Epworths, Church loop kings, 38-37. Saturday night on Franklin floor.

The Eps completely outplayed the stars in the opening half, moving ahead by a 21-6 margin. The Indus club played an erratic game and appeared to be headed for a sound thumping.

Thomas-Covelli Star
In the third, the stars showed improvement but still trailed 31-21 as the stanza closed. Suddenly, the stars hit a hot spree, registering fielders from all ends. With Jay Thomas and Dom Covelli, ex-Ne-Ca-Hi ace dropping long shots, the Indus club pulled up within reaching distance. Miller's shot under and Thomas' flip from the side evened the score.

With five seconds left, Thomas stepped up for two free throws, missing the first but connecting on the second.

Thomas' fourth period shooting was strictly sensational. All told, he garnered 14 markers. Covelli, one of the best set shot artists in New Castle high history, tossed in a couple of his favorite heaves at the right time. Miller notched three double deckers.

For the Epworths, Wainio, Wimer and Eddie Nahas featured. The two teams will play again Wednesday night at 7:30 o'clock on Franklin court.

Colman Is Rejected

By Canadian Army

PITTSBURGH, March 20.—(INS)—Outfielder Frank Colman, 26, has notified the Pittsburgh baseball club that he has been rejected for service by the Canadian army and will be available to the Pirates for the 1944 season.

Colman said he would report at the Muncie, Ind., training grounds Friday. Last year he played with Toronto, of the International league, and hit .315.

RACING COMMISSION

TO MEET JULY 3-7

CHICAGO, March 20.—(INS)—The National Association of State Racing Commissioners will meet in Chicago July 3 to 7, according to an announcement today by Major Eddy Williams, chairman of the Illinois racing board and vice president of the national association.

The national association is made up of members of the 24 state racing boards and commissions in the United States, and the Federal Racing Commission of Mexico.

ST. VITUS WINS

St. Vitus notched its seventh consecutive victory, routing St. Michaels, 45-26, in a recent Catholic Reserve contest. Buliano and Vaschetti featured for the winners with 15 and 11 markers while Grybowski's 15 points was tops for the losers.

Eddie Mayo, drafted by the Tigers, has changed his mind about quitting the game.

Sports Ramblings

Monday Wash:

Basketball once again proved profitable at Wampum high this season, the school's financial report discloses. In 12 home games, the Indians grossed $1,177.34 for an average of $98.06 a contest, an imposing figure considering the nominal admission price. The Wampumites lost about $250, officials estimate, because they were forced to hang out the "S.O." sign. After deducting costs of various items (equipment, etc.), the exchequer shows over $300 on the black side, exclusive of $109.80, receipts of the recent soldiers' benefit. The cage sport has been a paying proposition since the new gym was built four years ago.

Today's mail included a letter from one of my favorite localities, Tech. Sarg. Ralph "Ruffles" Johns, movie bit player, traveler, writer. One Eye Connolly's chief threat and for the past three years a soldier. The south sider, it will be recalled, was transferred to the states because of a serious hearing defect in his left ear. The allotment was contracted when Johns became a malaria victim while serving overseas. The former "Cane grider" writes that he is being sent to nearby Deshon hospital for treatment. At the same time, the "sarg" reveals that a song he wrote recently has been published. The musical piece was aired over a Greensboro, N. C., station, Johns concludes.

The cigars are on Harold Burry, Westminster Titan assistant coach and former Ne-Ca-Hi athletic star. The addition is a gai. . . Fred Wimer, New Castle's star center, eats and sleeps basketball. The quiet and tall performer, among the most talented cagers in the county, told me recently that he has played in more than 40 games this season. "That still isn't as many games as I'd like to play," he added. . . Baseball here will be losing one of its true friends in about eight days. This means that Carm DeLeone, originator of the City-County loop and always up front to help the diamond sport, dons U. S. Navy raiment.

Short and sweet: Ever remember of The Sporting News running wants ads for playing managers and players? Such notices are quite common now. . . Leo Durocher, Dodger manager, thinks the Cubs and Reds will be toughest to best this season. How about our Bucs? . . . Pitcher Monte Pearson, whose name appears on Cincinnati's retired list, is toiling with the idea of making a comeback in the Pacific Coast loop. Probably inspired by Lou Nova's latest comeback. . . When Notre Dame called baseball practice a few days ago, the boys must have thought the call was for the gridiron. No less than 105 reported.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS LAND

Not many members of the Lawrence County Sportsmen's association inspected the association's refuge near Harbor bridge Sunday according to officials. Weather conditions were responsible. However, with spring here, despite the down-fall of snow and sleet yesterday, the fact remains that more pleasant weather is not far distant and it will be then that members and persons interested in outdoor life will roam the plot which is located this side of the Erie railroad tracks.

Had yesterday's snow and sleet fallen Friday it would have resulted in fox hunters going on a prowl. More than three score foxes have been killed this winter yet the birth rate apparently has exceeded the death rate according to game officials.

Clinton B. White, fish warden, will stock 1,000 brown and 1,000 rainbow trout in the Little Reservoir tomorrow. The warden will meet volunteer assistants who should report at 10:45 a. m. On March 24, he will also need assistants to help stock Taylor Run. The shipment will arrive at the Platingrove school at 10:45 a. m.

KELL HITS .391

FOR LANCASTER

FREDERICK, Md., March 20.—(INS)—Athletics Manager Connie Mack said today he is pleased with the performance of Third Baseman George Kell—but the old veteran ventures no predictions.

Kell's batting average with Lancaster of the Interstate league last year was .391—the tops in both the major and minor leagues.

ST. VITUS GRABS

14TH CAGE WIN

St. Vitus grade school quint chalked up their 14th straight win by downing St. Joseph 43-15 on Catholic Center. St. Joseph was held scoreless until late in the second quarter when Kelaher made two free throws. The half ended 23-2.

Dambrosia, Janacone and Coppel led the St. Vitus attack with 29 points between them. Kelaher was St. Joe's mainstay with 8 markers. St. Vitus needs but two more victories to clinch the championship.

Weather Delays Charlotte Golfers

CHARLOTTE, N. C., March 20.—(INS)—Entrants were ready to go ahead in the $10,000 Charlotte open golf tournament today, weather permitting, after being sent indoors by a heavy cold rain in what was scheduled for yesterday's 36-hole final.

The wind-up, however, was split up into two days play of 18 holes since the players had no other engagements until the weekend.

Sgt. E. J. "Dutch" Harrison of Greensboro held a 2-stroke lead with 143 going into the second half of the tournament.

Harold "Jug" McSpaden of Philadelphia was second with 133. Byron Nelson of Toledo third with 140 and Sam Byrd of Detroit fourth with 142.

Stanley Playoffs Begins Tuesday

The regular National Hockey League season was at an end today, with the championship Montreal Canadiens trouncing the New York Rangers 4-1 and the Chicago Black Hawks shutting out the Detroit Red Wings 2-0 in the final games.

The curtain rises in the Stanley Cup playoffs tomorrow night in Detroit with the Hawks and Wings competing for a chance to meet the winner of the Canadiens-Toronto to Maple Leafs playoff series.

The Montreal-New York game last night in Madison Square Gardens closed the Rangers' worst season in 17 years, in which they made the second poorest showing in league history—39 losses, only six wins and five ties.

He came to the Yankees in 1938 and played continuously with the club which was nine times a champion during his career. He set a record for durability by staying in 100 or more games for 13 consecutive years. He took a breather last season to catch only 35 games. But he hit .351 over that route (he caught the world series and helped win that).

He leaves behind a lifetime batting average of .314, split by an even 200 home runs, and also leaves behind a million friends.

DeGROOT NAMED REDSKINS' COACH

Former Rochester University Mentor Accepts Pro Post; Succeeds Bergman

WASHINGTON, March 18.—(INS)—The Washington Redskins, eastern division champions of the National Football league, have named Dudley S. DeGroot, former Rochester University mentor, as the team's new coach for 1944.

His appointment as successor to Arthur (Dutch) Bergman was announced by George P. Marshall, president of the Capital club at a luncheon for newsmen and Washington football followers.

DeGroot, a "T-formation" exponent, was given a five year contract. No salary terms were divulged but Marshall said "it is a big one."

Berkman resigned in January to enter business after having led the Redskins to the eastern division title of the National league last fall. DeGroot coached at the University of Rochester last year, finishing up a four year stretch in which his teams won 23 games while losing only six.

COACH IS 63

Oldest Penn State coach—in years and in point of service—is Golf Coach Bob Rutherford, Sr. Bob is 63.

Yanks Lose Gordon; Bucs' Camelli Arrives

Miller And Fontaine Underdogs Tonight

Pittsburghers To Battle Aaron Seltzer And Ruby Garcia, Experienced New Yorkers

PITTSBURGH, March 20.—(INS)—Billy Miller and Juste Fontaine, rated as Pittsburgh's two best lightweights, will place their winning streaks on the line tonight at The Gardens, where Miller will battle Aaron Seltzer and Fontaine will meet Ruby Garcia in eight-round bouts.

Miller boasts 24 straight victories. Fontaine has won 18 fights in a row as a professional in less than a year. Both Seltzer and Garcia are New York veterans and are expected to enter the ring as heavy favorites over the local boys.

Fair or Foul

The Cincinnati Reds, at Bloomington, Ind., are bothered by the fact that Star Frank McCormick is hanging in the breeze as far as the draft is concerned.

The Chicago Cubs, who open at French Lick, Ind., are not certain how many players will show up at Camp. A flock of players are still unsigned, including Bill Nicholson.

Time took its toll through the years that have followed the era when the hardest hitting gang of club-swingers in all history made the fences rattle and the pitchers quake as the clincher the draft was they inducted Bill Dickey into the navy. He was the last link between the old days and the new.

"Murderer's" row was more than just a nickname. It was a synonym for all that was glamorous and colorful in baseball, a term that will endure with "the gas house gang," "the million dollar infield," "the hitless wonder" as long as baseball is played. It identified a superb hitting order in an era of super-extravaganzas in all sports.

FROM ME TO YOU

By FVT. MESEALL

CAMP BLENDING, P.D., delayed.

I feel sorry for you folks at home . . . all that snow to move . . . all we have to move down here is our bodies. And that is no mean job. The weather here is warm most of our marching time and beside moving just your body there are certain other things such as a pack on your back . . . rifle . . . helmet . . . canteen . . . meat can and sometimes you carry a full field pack that weigh around 40 pounds or so . . . remember once we commented on these packs . . . that was before we knew what it was all about . . . now we have some idea and we understand that before long our knowledge will be much more extensive.

How are we fed in the army? . . . good, extra good is the answer from the particular company. Again we feel fortunate in having good cooks along with officers and non-commissioned officers . . . not only is the food tasty but there is plenty for even the growing boys . . . and we do have a few in the outfit. Three square meals a day can make a man do things he would otherwise be unable to do . . . that doesn't mean that no one complains about things . . . my no . . . this is the Army and complaining seems to go with it . . . but good food does smooth out some rough spots.

How are the older men standing up under the training? . . . that question is always asked. From experience, that we have witnessed we are of the opinion . . . from the past 12 or 15 years we have suffered from bad feet . . . at least it was a mental. Now we have suffered from bad feet . . . the shoes we wear here are not stylish . . . they will take a shine if you rub . . . and one soon learns to rub . . . but as we said they are not stylish but they sure are comfortable . . . it takes time to break them in but usually one day on K. P. will do the trick . . . no slonder on E1 Rummell who sold me shoes before the war . . . it would still be great, wearing low shoes again.

When you come into the army . . . others will back me up . . . you give all your time to the Government . . . then they give you some of it back from time to time . . . usually . . . that time in the morning you might be a little tired and that time is better if you spent that time sleeping but as we said before you are on your own . . . But really folks . . . it's not that bad . . . well not quite.

One of the most difficult things to become accustomed to is the exercises . . . Most people think about them and may be once in a while will take a short walk . . . or in the morning jump out of bed and bend an arm or two . . . more than that . . . we really touch the floor. Here we do a little muscle in the back, legs, arm, fingers, neck and may be feel every muscle . . . but you take from the Army just what you put into it . . . and so it is with life . . . You all understand.

We understand that the tax office that was on the 3rd floor of the City building was moved down to the ground floor. Well, that was a mean thing . . . making people walk on three flights of steep stairs to pay a few cents in taxes . . . Who was responsible for that move?

This bit of talk concludes this particular series . . . it is necessary to have all articles approved by the Command . . . maybe they will give me an opportunity to write you all again. Until then . . . keep the home fire burning and we will have fun.

P. S. "Mail call" is most important to every man and woman in the service . . . Be sure you keep the letters going to them!

Altoona Man Pays Death Penalty In Murder Of Wife

Executed At State Penitentiary
At Rockview Shortly After Midnight Hour

BELLEfonte, Pa., March 20.—(INS)—Michael Musto, 45, former Altoona barber who killed his estranged wife, died in the state's electric chair at Rockview today at 12:32 a. m. The condemned man was the third wartime victim of the chair.

Musto, an unusually small man whose height was four feet ten inches, never saw the inside of the execution chamber. He entered the room in a limp condition supported by two prison guards and went to his death a few minutes later without opening his eyes. He bowed his head and repeated a prayer after Rev. J. J. Burkhardt, prison chaplain, who was with him in his last hours. The slayer continued to repeat the prayer in a clear voice up to the moment the current sent him to his death. Frank L. Wilson, of Pittsburgh, the state's executioner, officiated.

Warden Stanley P. Ashe, of Pittsburgh, said that Musto said or did little while at the prison from Saturday morning until the time of his death. He had no visitors and wrote no letters. The body was unclaimed and was to be buried at noon today in the prison cemetery.

Musto was convicted of slaying his wife Mary on April 6, 1943. He fired two shots into her as she walked through the main entrance of the Blair County court house at Hollidaysburg. The killing followed a hearing at which he was ordered to pay support for his wife and their children. The execution was the first at Rockview since April of last year.

NEWS AND VIEWS AT CAPITAL

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, March 20.—Wendell Wilkie, the Republican party's 1940 standardbearer, will not test his strength in Pennsylvania's primary election April 25. His supporters, not as numerous as four years ago, have not thrust the political drums in his behalf as vigorously as in the past. Political observers for Gov. Edward Martin report "little if any" sentiment for the 1940 nominee at present except in Allegheny and Mercer counties. The consensus has been that the Indiana's chances of winning votes in Pennsylvania were sidetracked when the state GOP organization endorsed U. S. Sen. James J. Davis, of Pittsburgh, for another term. There was some fear among Republican leaders prior to the endorsement that Davis, who has not basked in party favor during recent years, would bolt to Wilkie if the organization snubbed his candidacy.

Four years ago Wilkie's bandwagon had such passengers as County Republican Chairman G. Graybill Diehm, of Lancaster, David Vaughn, of Luzerne, and Frank J. Harris, of Allegheny. In addition, M. Harvey Taylor, of Harrisburg, then on the threshold of being elected state chairman, was just outside the recalcitrant camp. At a meeting of county chairmen at Hershey in June, 1940, Taylor associated himself with the three Wilkie boosters prompting former Gov. Arthur H. James, a speaker, to make a veiled reference to "those who had left the fold" of the regular organization.

An interesting test of the federal hatch act by "states rights" advocates may be forthcoming if John H. Stewart, Warren attorney, appeals to the U. S. supreme court any adverse decision by the U. S. civil service commission in the case of his father, Secretary of Health A. H. Stewart, accused of violating the federal statute along with 14 other commonwealth employees and officials. The secretary has vigorously denied allegations that he coerced or advised employees of his department to make "voluntary contributions" to the Republican campaign fund in 1942. If, however, the commission overrules his contention, his son has indicated he would ask the nation's highest tribunal to review the decision. Stewart, whose able administration of the department under former Gov. Arthur H. James prompted Gov. Edward Martin to reappoint him, has said the commission's investigation was initiated for political reasons. The Hatch Act, passed by congress five years ago, originally applied only to federal employees but in 1940 it was demanded to extend its prohibitions to state employees whose "principal employment" was in connection with the work for which they paid in whole or in part with federal money.

States rights supporters claim the act, in its present form, can be used to strangle political parties on Capitol Hill because most of the big departments—health, highways and labor and industry—are the recipients of large congressional appropriations. The act contains a phrase that employees coming under its provisions should not be "coerced, commanded or advised" to make contributions. A liberal definition, such as states rights supporters contend has been placed on "advise," could choke all political discussion, even in conversations off the job in departments receiving federal grants.

Miss Graham faces charges of being an accessory after the fact in the case in which William A. Morell, 20-year-old parolee, already has been convicted of manslaughter in the strangulation of Everett N. Wilson's wife on the Wilson dairy farm. Morell was cleared in the killing of Wilson's aged mother and Robert McKay, a farm employee. Janice and Morell also were employed by Wilson.

The women witnesses, attorneys said, are Miss Jane Shields of Greenville, who will be brought from the state reformatory at Moranzana, and Mrs. Edna Steingrabe of Mercer. Wilson and Morell also are expected to testify.

Wife Slayer Is Reported Insane

IMPORTANT INFORMATION ON SPRING DRY CLEANING

With the Spring and Easter rush approaching, our plant now operating at full capacity, and the shortage of help a critical problem, Smith's Cleaners will accept not more than three garments on any one order, effective immediately.

A lady's two or three-piece jacket suit, shirtwaist and skirt, sweater and skirt, two or three-piece dress, child's two or three-piece outfit, or man's three-piece suit will be considered as single garments the same as a lady's coat, man's topcoat or overcoat. Single trousers, skirts, sweaters and felt hats will be accepted with any order.

The above arrangement will be very helpful to us in maintaining our high standard of fine quality dry cleaning, with fairly reasonable service for all our customers. It will also help to avoid delays and disappointments.

Also effective immediately, curtain and drapery orders will be accepted on Mondays, Tuesdays and Wednesdays only.

We will appreciate your cooperation.

Beware Coughs Following Flu

After the flu is over and gone, the cough that follows may develop into chronic bronchitis. Creomulsion relieves promptly because it goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm, and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes. No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough or you are to have your money back.
